Ayurveda, the 5000-year-old healing science of India, has experienced a resurgence in popularity in the West. Ayurveda, literally “The Science of Life,” is a healing modality based on experience. It is founded on careful observation and analysis of the connection between the physical body, mind, emotions and environment to create balance and harmony. Ayurveda is a powerful self-healing paradigm that allows virtually anyone to understand and correct imbalances and conditions that can lead to illness and physical imbalances.

Ayurveda is understood to be a holistic healing art, taking into account the continuum between mind and body, and understanding that the mind, the body, the emotions and the external conditions and environment all interact with one another and can impact one another. Ayurveda also recognizes that humans are each unique, but that they have certain primary characteristics that are identifiable based on the body-mind type that they have. This body-mind type is broken down into three primary types, as well as combinations of the types. These types are vata (air type), pitta (fire type) and kapha (water/earth) type. By understanding the body type, one can then adjust diet, lifestyle and daily routines to ensure optimum energy, radiance and health.

PRAKRITI
Your Ayurvedic Constitution
By Dr. Robert Svoboda

Dr. Svoboda's original work on the constitutional types in Ayurveda has been considered a classic for many years. His new revision and expansion of the subject comes after much further research and practical experience. Dr. Vasant Lad points out: "The healing science of Ayurveda is based totally upon the knowledge of “prakriti”, the individual constitution. If every individual knows his own constitution, then one can understand, for instance, what is a good diet and style of life for oneself. One man's food is another man's poison. Therefore, to make one's life healthy, happy and balanced, the knowledge of constitution is absolutely necessary." (Dr. Vasant Lad is the author of Ayurveda: The Science of Self-Healing, and co-author of The Yoga of Herbs.)

Ayurveda Revolutionized
Integrating Ancient and Modern Ayurveda
By Edward Tarabilda

This book gives readers a new perspective in the practice of Ayurveda. It is not meant to replace what exists at present, but to be complimentary. This system is not new, but is offered as a revitalized approach to Ayurveda. The thesis put forth by the author in this text is that it is not constitution, as modern Ayurveda contends, but rather Seven Disease Tendencies which are fundamental to the treatment of disease. In fact, this approach is mentioned by Charaka, the father of Ayurveda, in his Charaka Samhita, the authoritative texts of Ayurveda.

AYURVEDA & LIFE IMPRESSIONS BODYWORK
Seeking Our Healing Memories
By Donald VanHowten
We all have holding patterns that are so habitual, they literally leave an historic imprint on the membranes of the body. These membranes store our actions, experiences, emotions and beliefs. They in turn represent our impressions of life, in a “hard copy” of flesh. This book takes the wisdom from the East, specifically from the ancient science of Ayurveda, and combines it with a version of the Western medical model, stirs in large portions of awareness, safety, and support, adds practical visual techniques, and passes this recipe along into your capable hands and hearts. Whether you are in the health field or a lay person simply interested in taking better care of yourself and others, you will find Ayurveda & Life Impressions Bodywork a refreshing, insightful and practical approach to updating our old life impressions.

TAO AND DHARMA
Chinese Medicine and Ayurveda
By Dr. Robert Svoboda and Arnie Lade
Tao and Dharma explores the enduring features of humanity's longest and continually practiced systems of medicine. These two indigenous healing arts arising independently in China and India commended and exchanged experience, techniques, and therapeutic substances over the epochs of their development. This book's interesting and valuable comparison provides a pioneer effort in examining side by side these great systems of medicine, studying closely the historical, theoretical and practical relationships.
ISBN 0-914955-21-7 155 pp paperbound $12.95

"Traditional Chinese and Ayurvedic medicine constitute the two major legacies for health and healing from the ancient world... the Taoist Yin-Yang philosophy and the three Doshas of Ayurveda... were used according to their respective cultural contexts to determine the most balance and appropriate diet, herbs, exercise and lifestyle according to inherited constitution, life work and climate..."
Dr. Michael Tierra, O.M.D., co-author of Chinese Traditional Herbal Medicine

THE LOST SECRETS OF AYURVEDIC ACUPUNCTURE
By Dr. Frank Ros
Ayurvedic Acupuncture is based upon the Suchi Veda, a 3,000 year old Vedic text which, in the Ayurvedic system, is the Science of Acupuncture. It has been practiced as an accessory therapy since it was used in conjunction with other forms to effect healing. It belongs more correctly to the branch of surgery, one of the eight medical disciplines of Ayurveda. Long before Acupuncture was popularized in China it was part of the Ayurvedic system.
ISBN 0-914955-12-8 206 pp paperbound $15.95

"Both sciences, Ayurveda and aromatherapy, offer hope for the healing of mankind, and this book is a huge contribution to their joining. The book’s step-by-step self diagnoses of metabolic types and "how to use" format make it easy for the Western mind to understand and apply these important healing modalities."
Harvey Diamond, co-author, Fit for Life

"Dr. Ros' instructive book on Ayurvedic Acupuncture demonstrates the wonderful spirit of Oneness which exists in Oriental Medicine...It highlights the fact that since ancient times the mutual communication between India and China led to the establishment of the one Truth in both ancient cultures."
Dr. Jianling Zhou, M.D. (China), D.Ac.
SECRETS OF AYURVEDA
Healing Music for Relaxation
By Dr. Shri Balaji Tambe

Healing Music touches and connects the three most important points of the body: the hara, the heart, and the pituitary gland. In Ayurveda, health means balance and illness means imbalance. Furthermore, imbalance signifies that the three doshas Vata, Pitta, and Kapha are disturbed. Healing music is capable of bringing these three energies back into balance and releases the regenerating, rejuvenating energies.
